

„Changes of Perspectives – Intercultural Exchange between Generations and Cultures along the Danube“ (Danube-Workers Lectures, DALEC2)

Between March and April 2013, the Donaubüro Ulm/Neu-Ulm in cooperation with the Centre for General Scientific Continuing Education (ZAWiW) of Ulm University and other scientific education and civil society institutions from Serbia, Romania and Bulgaria implements the project "Changes of Perspectives – Intercultural Exchange between Generations und Cultures along the Danube".

Three lectures prepared by scientists in 14-day intervals will be held live to an audience in the respective locations and transmitted over the Internet in an online-lecture series to the other project locations. After the lecture structured discussions will take place between the participants from all four countries. The lectures will be held in English and will be translated into the project partners` native languages.

Schedule of the online lecture series with live broadcast of all locations

03.04.2013 Demographic Change in the Danube Region and Europe (Ruse, Bulgaria)

17.04.2013 Old and Young between Tradition and Modernization (Craiova, Romania)

The aim of the project is to work out using the new media different perspectives between the Danube countries and the different generations to determine similarities and differences and to seek new solutions to social problems from different point of views. The online-lecture series contributes a better understanding between the people in the Danube region. Between the online lectures local meetings will be held to the participant groups, which serve the preparation and follow up of the lectures. The short presentations in form of statements will be transmitted in advance to the other partner organizations, so the participants can prepare their questions and statements in English. The well structured discussions will be lead by selected moderators.

An Internet platform will present the lectures as video podcasts together with relevant materials. An Internet forum will provide the opportunity to elaborate on the subjects in intergenerational and cross-national discussions.

The online-lecture series DALEC is intended for all generations, older adults, professionals, students and pupils.

The calls for the participation and the accompanying learning project will be made over the event announcements of the participating universities and partner organizations and their press distribution lists, also over Internet communities and schools in the partners` locations.
